LETTER FROM RICHMOND.

RICHMOND, October 10, 1862. After a three weeks' drought, we had this norning a gentle rain of an hour, not sufficient ndeed, to lay the dust, but most welcome as an earnest of a change of temperature, which, however, has not as yet taken place. At 4 P. M. the mercury stood in the open air, where not even the little power of the sun through the clouds could directly affect it, at 82 degrees. As Captain Watson heard heavy cannonading until we hear of no abatement of the yellow fever at Wilmington, this oppressive heat accompanying moisture is regarded as unfavorable, more so than if the drought had continued. The vicissitudes of the weather are pretty nearly the same along the whole line of the Atlantic coast, so that we can judge accurately enengh, making the due allowance for the difference of latitude, what the temperature is at Boston or at St. Augustine-not so beyond the Allegannics, Lexington on Tuesday last, and that there have
